Pathways Cycle Three: Reflections on Practice

February 5 to June 19, 2009

Offered through the Faculty of Extension,
University of Alberta as part of the CACE
(Certificate in Adult and Continuing Education) program

Reflections on Practice is intended for adult literacy program coordinators, other literacy practitioners, and adult educators with an interest in literacy. Course activities will invite you to reflect on and extend your practice through reading, writing, expressive arts approaches, and online dialogue. You may choose to learn more about familiar topics or venture into new areas of learning.

This course is intended for adult literacy program coordinators and others who have worked in the literacy field for two or more years. You will need to commit five hours per week to course activities. This course may include a face-to-face gathering.

Members of Literacy Alberta should register by contacting Candice Jackson, cjackson@literacyalberta.ca, for a registration form. All others, please register through University of Alberta Faculty of Extension, www.extension.ualberta.ca/cace/courses.aspx. The course title is Reflecting on practice: Focus on literacy 51725.

A limited number of tuition subsidies are available. For more information about a tuition subsidy or a detailed program description, contact Candice Jackson.
